

RISE

Best practices

Coordinators day

Brussels, 30 April 2015

Frank MARX

RISE Projects: all different all equal

Joint research and innovation project

Mobility and training of researchers via secondments

A network of Collaborating institutions and people

What we really really want

Ideally the RISE project should

- Lead to a long lasting collaboration between institutions and people across borders and sectors
- Help staff members to develop their careers further
- Bring added value to each member of the consortium due to the implemented research activities

What is needed?

Successful
secondments

Pertinent activities and training

Joint events

Communication and planning

Keep the dialogue

running within the network

Agree upon who does what and when

Ask for feedback and follow up on it

Ask advise from your Project Officer in REA

Sustainability and impact

Secondments should have a significant duration to make a difference

A training programme should be tailormade to the needs of staff members

Of a secondment

... Housing and accommodation

... Mentoring

... Integration at the host (in and outside of the work place...)

... language skills

.....getting visa

Regular networking activities

Seminars, workshops, summer schools are excellent opportunities for learning and transfer of knowledge and bring people TOGETHER

Open opportunities for new collaborations

And finally?

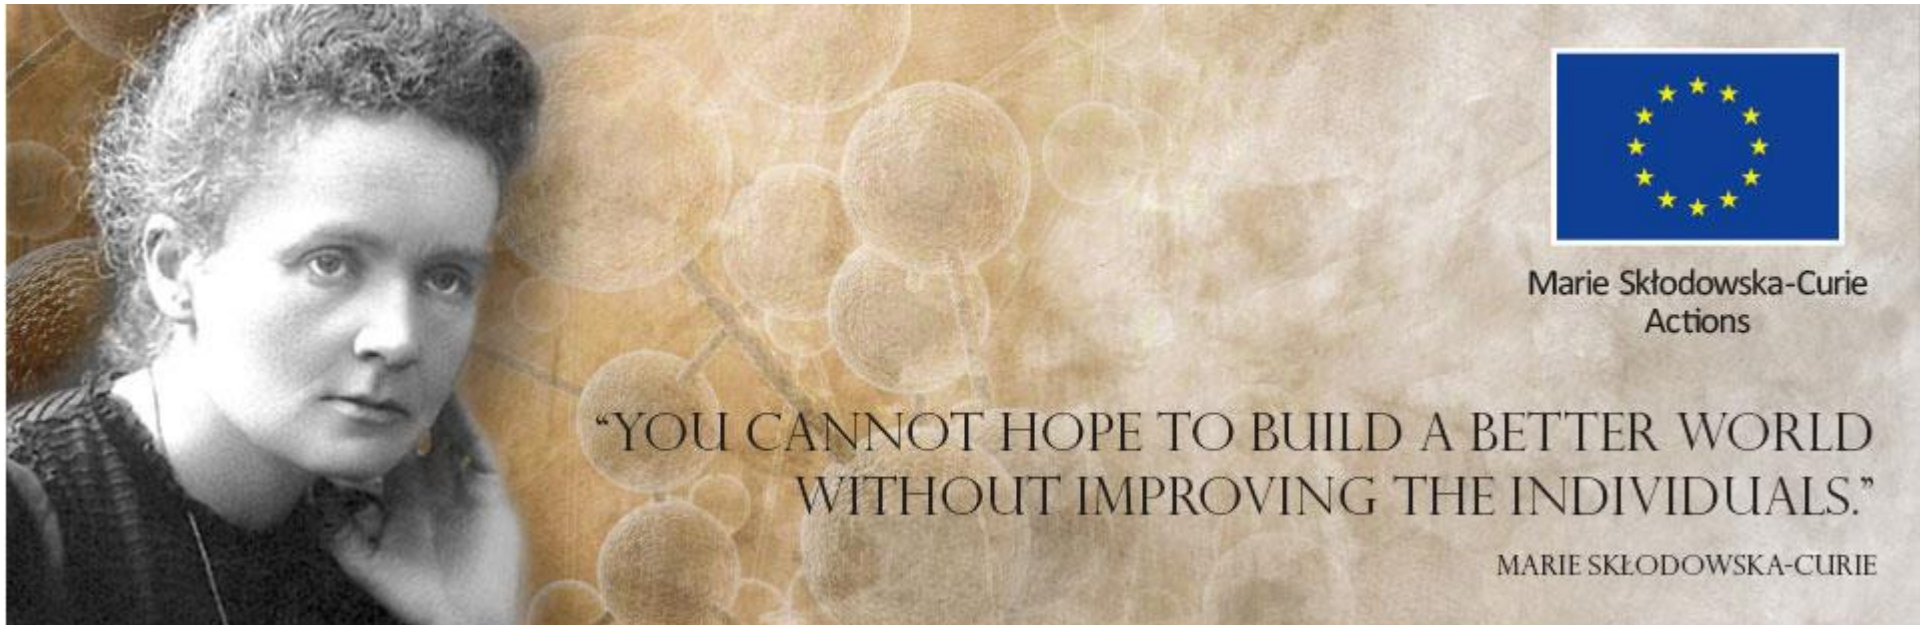

It (also)

MUST be fun

Social Events

Thank you for your attention